Office supply superstore BuyOnlineNow continues to offer great deals to their customers this holiday season, now with a limited time only Fellowes paper shredder sale. This comes right on the heels of their giant holiday office supply sale which encompasses hundreds of the most popular office supplies and equipment.

Fellowes has been producing some of the world's finest office products, business machines and office equipment since 1917, when Harry Fellowes founded the company as Bankers Box storage boxes. Paper shredders have been one of the more popular Fellowes products since the early 1990s and the company has done an excellent job of adapting their shredders to meet the increasingly higher security demands. There are some really great and interesting technological ideas used in Fellowes shredders. For example, the Jam Proof series of paper shredders use a unique system that will not only alert the user if they are attempting to shred too many documents, which helps prevent jams to begin with, but they also are able to recognize a jam, and then correct itself, essentially removing the hassle of frustrating paper shredder jams.

Another great example of Fellowes shredders use of innovative technology is the patented SafeSense technology which uses a sensor that will determine if your fingers come too close to the shredder opening, and immediately turn the blades off. This is extremely important, especially for home shredder use, where kids and pets may be in the vicinity of the paper shredder. Fellowes shredders are available in cross-cut or strip-cut models, depending on the level of security needed.

BuyOnlineNow stocks a large number of Fellowes products, and recently began shipping certain items direct from the Fellowes manufacturing plant. This is the way they were able to pass on the very low prices offered in the Fellowes shredder sale. By giving customers the opportunity to purchase a Fellowes shredder at a much lower price point than normal, BuyOnlineNow hopes to not only build an even stronger customer base, but also to share their excitement in the Fellowes line of office supplies and equipment. Jeremy Nelson, marketing director at BuyOnlineNow had this to say, “With tax season approaching our goal with this sale is to give customers a high quality shredder at a fraction of the everyday price. It's like getting a free upgrade to the shredder you really wanted to buy in the first place at an unheard of price.”

The sale is scheduled to last until the end of the year and as with all orders placed with BuyOnlineNow, anything over $99 ships for free. This includes all of the Fellowes shredders currently being offered at sale prices. Related Links:
